

Press Release

CIMP premieres “I Exist”, a documentary movie on Bridal Trafficking

On 20th of October 2022, CIMP and Bhoomika Vihar organized Womanish’22 in the auditorium of institute. Womanish is an annual event on celebrating womanhood. The theme of Womanish’22 was Gender and Ecological Rights. The event had presence of guests from Judiciary, Media, Academics and Police, Hon’ble Justice Sandeep Kumar was the chief guest of the occasion.

I Exist because I Grab Opportunity

The seminar started with the premier of movie “I Exist” which showcased the challenges faced by the girls and woman who are the survivors of fake/forced and early marriages. It also highlighted the initiatives being taken by Bhoomika Vihar for betterment of their lives. The movie is directed by Ms. Trisha Singh, Arunoday Media Pvt. Ltd.

Social sector enthusiast were awarded

The event witnessed the presence of 15 social sector activists working across Environment, Animal Rights, Education, Woman Empowerment, Health and Art. They were presented memento and certificate to appreciate their brilliant contribution to the society by the guests.

Launch of Compendium Book

The book featuring 35 years of Transformative Journey was unwrapped by the guests. It describes the history and inception of Bhoomika Vihar in the year 1996.

This book is the consolidation of initiatives at ground level, achievements, unique model of social change- Balika Panchayat and the traditional art forms of Bihar with description.

Work on 3 Es for Gender and Ecological Rights: Shilpi Singh

Speaking on the occasion, Shilpi Singh, Director of Bhoomika Vihar emphasized upon working on grassroots level for social and economic upliftment of marginalized woman and girls. She urged all section of intellectuals to work upon Education, Economic and Ecological development of vulnerable which will make a better society. This will have a better balance with gender and environment for sustainable outcome.

Where women are honored, divinity blossoms there: Dr. Rana Singh, Director of CIMP emphasized upon Indian family value system and its relevance with Indian Mythology. He also asked the management students to read, understand and act upon the social challenges which will inculcate the emotional intelligence among them. Understanding the dynamics of society and bringing woman/girls at par will enhance the human resource and capabilities to deliver and hence increasing throughput.

Eco- feminism is need of the hour to protect society and environment: Hon'ble Justice Sandeep Kumar

Eco-feminists examine the effect of gender categories in order to demonstrate the ways in which social norms exert unjust dominance over women and nature. The global concerns are rising on environmental degradation. The woman and girls, he added.

Support Woman and Girls: Shri Ashok Kumar, IG (Retd.)

Shri Ashok highlighted the issue of rising cases of violence against woman and the challenges faced in rehabilitation. He asked all to come together and support woman and girls such that they can excel.

Society is evolving, being girl is a privilege: Advocate Nivedita

Ms. Nivedita said that we have come a long way since independence of the country, but yet many things need to be done to bring equality in society. Woman taking initiatives for environment is very important as they are the most sufferers due to climate change and ecological imbalances.

The seminar was concluded by Vote of Thanks from Chairman of Center for CSR Studies-Shri Kumod Kumar.

