Chandragupt Institute of Management Patna (CIMP) has organized an offline session as part of the Leadership Lecture Series for PGDM (equivalent to MBA) participants. Dr. Satyajit Kumar Singh was invited to address as a special guest during the session. Dr. Satyajit is a Chief Consultant Urologist and Andrologist, Managing Director with Ruban Group of Hospitals.

Dr. Satyajit Kumar Singh had substantial experience of more than 45 years working as Urologist and Andrologist in the domain of healthcare.

Amid the August gathering, Prof. Dr. Rana Singh, Director, CIMP himself was attended to host and greet the guest speaker. Prof. (Dr.) Jyoti Verma has delivered the welcome address and welcomed the guest speaker. Among others, Mr. Kumod Kumar, the Chief Administrative Officer, and many additional faculty members have also attended the session in large numbers.

Dr. Satyajit has begun his discussion by saying that the sense of belongingness is a developing place. Best workplace is the place which develops a socialist, entrepreneurs and leaders. He discussed that management is an art of doing things effectively. One should be a promoter in life and everyone should have equal respect in an organization, group D level employee or a CEO.

He also informed participants that strengthen the strength of the organization and work upon the weaknesses. Take small baby steps and make smaller goals and keep achieving that with a spirit of "Hum kisi se kam nahi".

In his interactions with the CIMP students, Dr. Satyajit has told that leadership is all about treating everyone equally. A leader is a dealer in creating hopes they look for the brighter side.

It was a lively and educational discussion. The students were also quite engaged in this conversation and have shared their personal experiences in search of knowledge, which Dr. Satyajit Kumar has addressed patiently and finely.
