Chandragupt Institute of Management Patna (CIMP) organized an interaction with Mr. Amit Shukla founder of EASYGOV and Advisor for state and government for social issue under the IIC activity.

Prof. (Dr.) Rana Singh, Director, CIMP opened the event with a welcome speech. Dr. Rana Singh, Director, CIMP welcomed the guest, other dignitaries and audience.

Further this day, Mr. Amit Shukla, addressed the audience and said that Entrepreneur love risk and ensure about result with calculative risk and every problem has a hidden start-up idea which you have to identify. Problem comes in our life we emphasize it and leave it away. But don't try to find a solution in large context. Now a day, due to the different social applications we can easily receive information and images documents within a fraction of seconds. These things are possible because someone has taken the initiatives and made it possible. He also said that it is very difficult to convince investors to believe that you will be best for that problem. This is a major concern in a start of a successful start-up but if you have a will and courage you can achieve your goal for the betterment of the society. Talent is not important but what you will do today is important. Further, Mr. Shukla also said that Value addition is an endless process which helps an individual to shape his career.

Prof. (Dr.) Rana Singh, Director, CIMP delivered the Vote of Thanks. In his address he gives a heartfelt thanks to the respected guest and other participants. Faculty members, students, staffs and others distinguished dignitaries were present during the session.
